"Alice Blue" a Dead Issue.

Daisy Fitzhugh Ayres, in her Sunday Washington letter says:

"The wife of Congressman Longworth paid her respects to the wife of her husband's Ohio colleague, Mrs. Charles Grosvenor at her tea, in a chic little costume of brown velvet, with an outfit of sable. There was a suggestion of pink in the brown feathers that decked the small toque. Alice does all her congressional chores like a lamb, never balking at any official duty, conforming to the same laws that control the spouses of other 385 plain congressmen. Mrs. Longworth has entirely abandoned in her costumes the shade of blue for which she was formerly celebrated. "Alice blue" is a dead and buried issue. She has been running to brown all winter in her out-of-door costumes, until, latterly, for the sake of a bit of variety, a chic green walking suit has been receiving patronage. A broad band of black fur runs around the bottom of the skirt. A Persian lamb muff is an accessory to the tout ensemble. Mrs. Hefa Williams, the British authority, says Alice knows how to dress. During the early years of Miss Roosevelt's popular incumbency opinion ran to the contrary. Mrs. Longworth seldom wears a veil of any sort."

Kentucky Woman Honored in St. Louis.

Sunday's Courier-Journal says:

"Mrs. James W. Williamson, has been elected regent of the St. Louis Chapter D. A. R., of St. Louis, and will preside for the first time on Sunday."

Mrs. Hugh Thomas Brown of Columbia, Tenn., is in the city spending a few weeks with her husband, Mr. H. T. Brown, of the Paducah Power and Light company. Mrs. Brown has been in Columbia for the past year on account of the health of her children.

Miss Roxey Sneed is visiting Miss Clara Konkle, in the St. Johns section.

Mr. W. A. Bishop will leave tomorrow for Hot Springs, Ark., for his health. Mrs. Bishop will leave Wednesday for Nashville to visit during Mr. Bishop's absence.

Mr. William Eades, the coal operator, went to the Hillside mines this morning on business.

FAT MAN TIES UP RAILROAD

Gets Stuck in a Trestle and Blocks Trains for an Hour.

Belleville, Ill., Feb. 25.—Valentine Rodemeyer, height five feet and some inches, girth about the same, and weight 303 pounds, tied up the Illinois Central railroad about an hour today by getting stuck between the ties of the trestle over Ricaland Creek. John Macklin heard Rodemeyer's cries, and flagged a freight train just in time to save his life. The train crew joined in the effort to pull the man out, but it was not until a second train arrived and the crew joined in the work that he was extricated.

TO THE PATRONS OF THE KENTUCKY THEATER:

We can assure you, our patrons, that the production of Sousa's opera "The Free Lance" tonight is one of the best staged, and contains some of the best music, the brightest wit of any musical comedy we have had this season. The company is the same one in the essential parts that produced the opera at the New Amsterdam theater in New York City, where it scored a great success. While the sale of seats has been large, we have a great number of desirable seats yet. You know what Sousa's music is, and the artist Jo Hawthorne is, which, aside from our assurances, bespeaks a good show. Very truly,

T. W. ROBERTS, Manager.

Filling a Long Felt Want.

His job this young man sought to keep,
But found he wasn't wanted there.
He did not sit him down and weep,
And rend his hair.
He put a WANT AD. in the paper
And filled a long felt WANT thereby.
Now that was quite the proper caper:
Why don't YOU try?
